HOW DO YOU THINK THE WORK EXPERIENCE SECTOR IN AUSTRALIA IS DEVELOPING?

Rick Jones, Monash Professional Internships, Melbourne, VIC

“The work experience market is continuing to develop in Australia. As the concept is being embraced by more and more companies, it means a greater number and a more diverse range of opportunities presents itself. Traditional programmes in the hospitality and conservation sectors continue to be popular, but we are now seeing an increase in the demand for specialised programmes in areas such as finance and engineering. The Australian market has matured to a point where it can now cater for these requests. Australian programmes continue to be popular with US students, particularly with the advent of the new Work & Holiday Visa, along with [noted popularity in] the South East Asian market.”
